Herbal Studies

Module 2.4 • Christian Herbalist

KJV-ONLY APP STUDY EDITION

Prepared from the supplied NHMEC 2026 guidebook for app use. Older Canvas directions are not carried forward. This is a concise study edition, not a page-for-page reproduction of the archived source PDF.

Course Focus

The supplied Module 2.4 guidebook is an herbal-studies resource built around herb profiles, monographs, biblical references, constituents, traditional uses, preparations, safety, research highlights, energetics, and Christian reflection.

Herbs Visible in the Supplied Guidebook

- Almond (Prunus dulcis)
- Biblical aloes / aloeswood (Aquilaria) contrasted with Aloe vera
- Anise (Pimpinella anisum)
- Black cumin (Nigella sativa)
- Cumin (Cuminum cyminum)
- Cinnamon (Cinnamomum spp.)
- Fig (Ficus carica)
- Additional monographs continue in the full archived source guidebook

Monograph Study Pattern

- Botanical name and family
- Plant description and habitat
- Parts used and constituents
- Traditional actions and uses
- Preparations and dosage as presented in the source
- Safety and contraindications
- Research highlights
- Energetics and Christian herbal perspective
- Biblical reference and reflection

Matthew 23:23 (KJV)
Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.

KJV-Only Rule

Biblical references and spiritual reflections in this app edition are to be read and quoted from the King James Version only. Where the archived source used wording from another translation, the app edition retains the reference but not the non-KJV wording.

Study Reflection

- How does botanical identity help prevent confusion between similarly named plants?
- Why do plant part, preparation, dose, and safety matter in a monograph?
- How does the source connect scientific study with Christian stewardship?
- How should biblical references be handled without turning them into exaggerated health claims?

Educational Notice. This study edition is for faith-centered wellness education and does not diagnose, prescribe, treat, cure, or replace licensed medical care. Students are responsible for working within applicable laws and scope. Scripture quotations in this app edition are King James Version (KJV) only.
